Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-2 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Wanner et al.

(US 4,002,347).

With regard to claim 1, the reference of Wanner et al. discloses an impact adapter (4 shaft) for transfer of impacts and rotation from an impact rock drilling machine (1) to a drill string comprising a first end (distal end) for connection to a drill string and a second end (proximal end) provided with ridges (13 Fig. 3) and interposed grooves (14) for transfer of rotation, characterized in that the grooves (14) at the end (proximal end) directed away from the first end (distal end) of the impact adapter (4) are widened in the direction away from the first end (distal end).

With regard to claim 2, the ridges of impact adapter of Wanner et al. includes smaller radial extension as shown in Figure 3.
